

Columbia Law School and Columbia Graduate School of Journalism - J.D./M.S. Dual Degree Program

Columbia Law School and the Columbia Graduate School of Journalism offer a dual degree program that enables students to earn a J.D. and M.S. over seven semesters. Students spend five semesters in residence at the Law School and two semesters in residence at the Journalism School.

Admissions

Prospective students must separately apply and be admitted to both the Law School and the Journalism School. Applicants may either apply simultaneously to both schools or apply initially only to the Law School and apply to the Journalism School during their first or second year of study at the Law School.

For information regarding the admissions process at each school, please contact the CLS Office of Admissions and the Journalism School Office of Admissions directly.

Degree Requirements

- Credit Requirements: 71<sup>1</sup> Law School credits; 37 Journalism School credits
- Minimum Residency Requirements: 5 semesters at the Law School; 2 semesters at the Journalism School
- Academic Requirements:
  - Students in the J.D./M.S. program must satisfy all academic requirements for the J.D. degree, including: (1) all first-year Foundation Courses; (2) a course in Professional Responsibility; (3) the Major Writing Credit; (4) the Minor Writing Credit; (5) a minimum of 40 hours of Pro Bono service; and (6) for students who first matriculated at the Law School in or after 2016, at least six points of Experiential Coursework credit. The primary distinction is that, for students in the dual degree program, the Law School will accept one term of full-time residency and up to 12 academic credits toward the J.D. degree for work completed at the Journalism School. For more information on the J.D. requirements, please visit the J.D. Rules Page.
  - Students in the J.D./M.S. program follow the same course of study as single-degree full-time M.S. students and must satisfy all of the Journalism School's requirements for graduation. For information about the Journalism School's academic requirements, please click here.

Program Structure

Students in the J.D./M.S. dual degree program earn both degrees over seven semesters, five of which are spent at the Law School and two of which are spent at the Journalism School. Students must spend the first full year of the program, as well as the final semester of the program, at the Law School, and one full academic year (a consecutive Fall and Spring semester) at the Journalism School. However, they enjoy flexibility as to whether to reside at the Journalism School during the second or third year of the
