Rodríguez Garavito will discuss critiques of the human rights field, and tactics for effectively disrupting human rights - and improving strategies for social justice - that draw on the insights of other areas, such as journalism, neuroscience, long-term thinking, and social psychology.

Moderated by Benjamin Hoffman, Deputy Director, Columbia Law School Human Rights Clinic

Lunch will be provided.